

x.news™ and Jutel Oy announce strategic partnership to deliver integrated News Room and Radio Solutions

Bringing together advanced story research tools and cutting-edge radio automation technology to empower modern media operations

May 27th 2025 — x.news information technology gmbh, a leading provider of innovative story research and collaboration tools for newsrooms, and Jutel Oy, a pioneer in digital radio automation and media asset management solutions, are pleased to announce a strategic partnership aimed at transforming how newsrooms and radio broadcasters operate in a fast-paced digital environment.

This partnership brings together x.news's expertise in real-time news research, verification, and collaboration with Jutel's cutting-edge radio broadcast and media workflow technology, creating a seamless solution for media organizations looking to streamline operations, enhance content production, and accelerate delivery across platforms.

"The combination of x.news's powerful story-centric tools and Jutel's robust radio automation and content management systems offers media houses a holistic approach to modern storytelling," said Andreas Pongratz, CEO of x.news™. "Together, we're empowering journalists and producers with tools that save time, ensure accuracy, and enhance collaboration."

Jutel's RadioMan® platform is widely recognized for its scalable and flexible radio broadcast solutions, supporting live and automated operations across diverse environments. Integrating x.news's AI-driven content aggregation and verification tools into this environment enables editorial teams to quickly identify relevant information, verify it, and produce compelling stories that are ready for on-air or online publishing.

"This collaboration with x.news™ allows us to enrich our offering with next-level content discovery and verification," said Olli-Pekka Lukkarinen, CEO of Jutel Oy. "By aligning our strengths, we help media organizations future-proof their operations and improve efficiency from content creation to distribution."

The joint solution will be showcased at upcoming industry events and is already being rolled out to selected partners and customers across Europe.

ABOUT JUTEL OY

Jutel Oy is a Finnish pioneer in radio automation and media management solutions, trusted by leading broadcasters around the world. Its flagship platform, RadioMan®, enables streamlined planning, production, and playout for both traditional and digital-first media operations.

ABOUT X.NEWS™

x.news™ provides cutting-edge tools that help newsrooms, broadcasters, and communication professionals monitor, verify, and collaborate on content in real time. Its cloud-based platform integrates with leading sources and social media to empower faster, more accurate storytelling.